Cows to come home next summer

STAFF PHOTO BY KEITH E. JACOBSON

Nanc Gordon, decorative painter and graphic artist from Newton, has been awarded the honor of painting the official "kickoff cow" for Cow Parade Boston. Cow Parade, which benefits the Jimmy Fund of Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, is a public art exhibition of life-sized fiberglass cows designed and painted by local artists. The cows will become part of Boston's landscape next summer, inviting the public to both view and interact with them.
